

😊 WHY EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE MATTERS 😞

THE LINK BETWEEN EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE (EX) AND CUSTOMER EXPERIENCE (CX)

47% HR LEADERS PRIORITIZED EX IN 2023

That was a wise move. Here's why:
Interacting with grumpy employees = Poor CX + Unhappy customers
Dealing with unhappy customers = ↓ Employee morale + ↑ Stress

66% OF CONSUMERS SAID A BAD INTERACTION WITH CUSTOMER SUPPORT CAN RUIN THEIR DAY

Happy Employees ↔ Happy Customers

THE STATE OF EX

38% OF EMPLOYEES EXPERIENCED BURNOUT IN 2023

- Burnout yields:
- ↓ Production
 - ↓ Morale
 - ↓ Customer support
 - ↓ Compared to 2022, 5% less employees felt their workplace technology supported productivity

Employees need better workplace technology to create, support, and maintain their organization's desired CX.

BUSINESS-TO-EMPLOYEE (B2E) STRATEGY: PRIORITIZING AND IMPROVING EX

A strategy that prioritizes EX by providing the right technical tools, training, and support necessary for employees to excel in their roles.

Engagement and Loyalty: Key Benefits

Successful B2E efforts engage employees, and happier employees are more likely to stick around and will better serve your customers.

Improved EX

- ↑ Employee productivity
- ↑ Employee morale
- ↑ Employee retention

Better CX

- ↑ Customer service
- ↑ Customer satisfaction
- ↑ Customer retention

Technology's Role in EX

Empower employee success with the right technology.
Enter: the Digital Experience (DX) platform. This platform sits at the intersection of processes, content, and applications.

It supports employees by:

- Streamlining collaboration.
- Eliminating points of friction from legacy technical tools.
- Making data, applications, and content more accessible to all.

Embracing a B2E strategy positions your organization — both now and in the future — to better support employees' efforts toward delivering a great CX, improving satisfaction and fulfillment on all fronts.
